- The area spans some 40,000 kilometers (25,000 miles) and is where a majority of the world's earthquakes occur.

Earthquakes

• About

- An earthquake is the shaking of the surface of the Earth.
- It results from the sudden release of energy in the Earth's lithosphere that creates seismic waves.
- Earthquake is the form of energy of wave motion transmitted through the surface layer of the earth.

• Cause

- According to the theory of plate tectonics, the Earth's crust and upper mantle are made of large rigid plates that can move relative to one another.
- Slips on faults near the plate boundaries can result in earthquakes.

• Focus and Epicenter

- The point inside the Earth where the earthquake rupture starts is called the focus or hypocentre.
- The point directly above it on the surface of the Earth is the epicenter.

• Seismic Waves

- Seismic waves are the waves of energy caused by the sudden breaking of rock within the earth.
- They are the energy that travels through the earth and is recorded on seismographs.
- The two main types of waves are body waves and surface waves.

• Body Waves

- These waves travel into the body of the earth.
- These waves are somewhat like sound waves.
- These are faster than surface waves.
- P-waves

- Move faster and are first to arrive at the surface.
- Travel through gaseous, liquid, and solid materials.
- High frequency and are the least destructive.

○ S-waves

- Arrive at the surface with some lag.
- Travel only through solid materials.

• Surface Waves

- When the body waves interact with surface rocks, a new set of waves is generated called surface waves.
- These waves move along the earth's surface.
- Surface waves are also transverse waves in which particle movement is perpendicular to the wave propagation.
- They are similar to waves on the water surface.
- They are last to report on seismographs.
- These waves are more destructive.
